THE DOCTOR SAYS More Being Learned About Lymphatic System

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Your very life depends on your lymphatic system, yet this system has until recently been poorly understood. The system consists of lymph, the lymphatic vessels and the lymph nodes.
Lymph is a clear fluid closely resembling sea water except when it is a milky solution—the result of absorbing fats from the digestive tract. Lymph, found in the small spaces between cells, literally bathes every living cell in the body.
The lymph vessels are fragile and almost invisible even under a microscope. This explains why a study of them has been so long delayed.
Unlike the blood stream, which sends blood to and from the heart, the lymphatics carry the lymph in only one direction—to the heart. This flow is very sluggish and depends on squeezing pressures from outside the vessels. Tiny valves prevent a backward flow.

Methods of studying the lymphatic system include the use of dyes and radioactive isotopes. These studies are still in their infancy. We have, however, learned that the materials needed to nourish individual cells—minerals, amino acids, sugars, fatty acids, vitamins and hormones—leak out of the capillary blood vessels into the intercellular lymph spaces where they are taken up by the cells.
At the same time, cell wastes are discharged into the lymph stream and eventually reach the general circulation. From there they are carried to the various organs of elimination—skin, lungs and kidneys.
The lymph nodes act as filters to prevent the spread of disease germs and cancer cells throughout the body. In the process they may become enlarged, tender and even break down if the onslaught is too great. On the whole, however, they do a fine job of warding off infectious agents until other products of the lymphatic system—antibodies and white blood cells—have time to take on the task.
When fats are transformed into fatty acids in your intestines, these acids are taken up by the lymphatics because in too great a concentration they would destroy your red blood cells. The fatty acids are then gradually deposited in your blood stream at a rate your blood can tolerate.
When your capillaries ooze fluid into your lymphatic system faster than your lymph vessels can carry it away, waterlogging or edema occurs. This may be a result of disease or may even occur in your feet and ankles when you have sat or stood for a long time without moving your toes and leg muscles. When this happens your ever-faithful lymphatics need help.

Ocean Marking to Aid Exploration

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A nuclear scientist says expanded undersea exploration may be facilitated in the next 10 years by atomic beacons marking the oceans of the world.
Dr. B.I. Spinard of the Argonne National Laboratory told a meeting of the American Nuclear Society Tuesday night that nuclear-powered submarine freighters may ply undersea lanes marked with sonar beacons.
Spinard said the beacons, using atomic energy, would identify submarine travel lanes.
He said increased attention also is being given to space uses for nuclear power systems which "look extremely fruitful because of their reliability." Nuclear-powered rockets may be used to propel space stations and provide power for permanent space probes, he said.

MOP Would Buy Southern RR

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Missouri Pacific Railroad asked Tuesday for Interstate Commerce Commission to offer Alton and Southern Railroad $16 million for its properties.
Alton and Southern, a switching railroad, has its principal interchange points at St. Louis and in Illinois, at Dupon, East St. Louis, Fox Terminal, Mitchell, Monsanto and Valley Junction.
Mopac proposed that it buy the Alton and Southern Railroad properties and operate them as an independent switching line. Mopac said it would not object if other line-haul carriers serving the St. Louis area might desire to take part in the transaction.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Lowdown, Dirty Trick

Dear Helen: The clerk at a market where I've shopped for the last ten years walked out to the car with me one other night and got fresh. When I said I'd report him he said, "Boy, you're sure changeable! How about all those things you told me on the phone?"

Helen, I never in my life telephoned another man in that way. I'm happily married, have five children and don't have time for affairs.

I finally convinced him somebody was playing a joke, but now every time I see a man look twice at me, I think has he had a phone call and what is he thinking? I even stopped having my milk delivered. I can't act normal to anyone, and I can't say anything. Heavens! How would it sound if I went to a male acquaintance and asked, "Have you been getting dirty telephone calls from me?"

What can I do? — Victim

Dear Victim: I've heard of some low telephone tricks, but this is the lowest! A little sleuthing might track this creep down, and, when you find her, I hope you sue! She's either an enemy or a practical joker. Whichever she's bound to reveal her hand (mouth) because the crude cannot help bragging. Keep your eyes and ears open and a knowing smile on your face; and do not be afraid to ask questions about possible phone calls. They can forestall propositions! — H.

Dear Helen: My friends say they love to go to parties where my husband is at but they couldn't live with him. He's the "life off" all right. Nothing is sacred. His favorite subject is sex and, believe me, our own sex life is no secret, that is if it can get a laugh!!!

I know six people who are great for comedy, and all of them are separated. These so-called wits don't hold up at home — they're spoiled, immature, selfish and expect you to think they're hilarious when you want to gag. Also it's "me,

I, my," all the way.

Girls, if you date a fellow who spurns, is a "wit," an immaculate dresser and must have a nice car, and be the center of attention — watch out! Especially if he puts a sexy double meaning on every remark you or anyone makes.

I've suggested a marriage counselor but he thinks everything is fine, and I'm the oddball. Would it help to see one by myself? — R. T.

Dear R: Of course it would help — if you go to the counselor for HELP, not merely sympathy.

It takes two to make a bad marriage. If ONE shapes up (maybe you have faults you did not mention), the other may follow her lead. Give it a try! — H.

Dear Helen: This is to L. B. H., the grandma who wants to be paid for babysitting her own grandchildren.

That's ridiculous. I am the mother of six and grandmother of an adorable seven-month-old girl. I babysit her any time I can provided I have no plans of my own. It's a great privilege and I would never consider taking money for it!

Any grandmother who thinks she needs money to babysit her own flesh and blood is either very hard up or very disinterested — Happy Grandma

Dear Helen: Being paid by the hour to babysit your grandchildren would be an insult. We are able to talk with our children — and if something else is planned, they find a sitter.

Many times as we grow older we feel useless. Nothing makes me feel more important than to know my grandchildren love to be with me. — G.P.

Dear Readers: Letters are running 25 to one AGAINST baby sitting pay for grandparents — and the letters are mostly from grandparents. But remember, you parents, there are many ways, other than cold cash, to show appreciation. I hope you know them all! — H.

Great Changes Come Over a Girl When She Finally Has That Marriage License

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Yep, nothing changes a girl like marriage.

She seems so sweet, simple and dainty when a fellow is courting her. But after they agree to test the theory that two can live as cheaply as one, a great change comes over her.

Her moods vary swiftly. It is as if he were living with a stranger in the house, a stranger with a different personality and a whole new set of values.

For example: She used to hang on every word he said. Now she uses every word he utters in order to try to hang him.

Before marriage she looked like she had been poured into her clothes. After marriage, if he didn't tug and pull and zip, she'd never be able to get dressed.

There was a time when she thought he looked dashing in a bow tie. Now, if he dons one, she remarks witheringly, "Who do you think you are—Joe College?"

It was easy in the old days for him to put his hands around her waist and lift her lightly over an old stone wall. Later, using both arms, he could barely budge her off her high heels.

In the dim past she could stay up half the night listening to him tell about his dreams and ambitions. Now she routs him out of bed at dawn and says, "You'd better get to work early today or they'll probably fire you—not that I'd blame them."

When he used to take her out, all she wanted was a small hamburger. When he takes her out now, she makes the restaurant waiter bring her a second big expensive steak if the first one doesn't suit her.

Formerly, they laughed and ran up the hills together. But presently, they quarrel about the bills she runs up separately.

Before the ceremony she promised, "Our marriage won't turn out just like 90 per cent of marriages do." After the ceremony, he found out how right she was.

It turned out to be just like 99 per cent of other marriages.

But nature apparently meant for man to be turned by the girl of his dreams into the prisoner of her schemes. That's living.

Johnson and DeGaulle Are Strong Willed

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—In the Western world there could hardly be two men more different than President Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle. Each has a strong will. How they use it makes the difference.

Johnson is a symbol of soothing syrup. De Gaulle of sandpaper. Johnson's idea of getting people to go along with him is persuasion of one kind or another. De Gaulle's is to belt them with a mallet.

The President was the greatest Senate majority leader in this century because, in a chamber full of independent and temperamental spirits, he was able to accomplish so much.

He persuaded, cajoled, did favors, persisted, kept his voice down. The Frenchman would have been a disaster in Johnson's Senate job since he seems to regard himself as the man on the mountain giving orders on stone tablets.

When the French faced chaos in the 1950s, the need for a strong man to keep the country together was only one of the reasons for calling De Gaulle from retirement.

There was this one, too: in his lifetime he had become a legend representing the spirit of France, its refusal to be crushed, and perhaps a bridge between a golden past and a possible golden future.

Unlike so many other French leaders in World War II, he refused to yield to the Nazis and from England led the opposition to the Nazis. He would have been a ludicrous nothing if he hadn't had the Allies on which to rely.

But in his dreams of grandeur about himself and France he seems to have lost touch with reality: not only in World War II but in World War I France would have perished if the Allies had not bailed her out.

As French president he has ignored that reality and, instead of cherishing a strong alliance, has splintered it by acting as if a rearmored France could now stand alone against any enemy, which it couldn't.

He kept his British ally out of the European Common Market; he called the war in Viet Nam "stupid," thus ignoring the fact that France fought there to hold the country as a colony until defeated and forced to withdraw; he refused to join the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union in a limited nuclear test-ban treaty; he suggested France could be leader of a third world; he recognized Red China over American protest.

His government warned Europe against trusting its security indefinitely to the United States and on March 9 France announced it would pull all its troops out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which has been Western Europe's first big barricade against Communist invasion, and said France would assume control of all U.S. bases on French soil by 1969.

When De Gaulle set out his views in a letter to Johnson, he got a fast answer: De Gaulle's insistence that foreign bases on French soil should come under French command was striking at the heart of NATO and should be discussed within NATO.

De Gaulle's action could destroy NATO unless the other 14 members united to stand firm. They did so quickly and last Friday answered de Gaulle.

They said NATO and the organization established under it "are both alike essential to the security of our countries. We are convinced that this organization is essential and will continue."

Johnson would never have acted like that. And it's doubtful De Gaulle ever would have, either, if he didn't know that even if he left NATO the other members would rush to his defense if France needed them.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"A lot of my friends and advisers told me the role would be bad for my image," said young Tony Bill. "But since I didn't know what my image was, I couldn't have cared less."

The San Diego-born, Notre Dame-educated actor has just returned from England, where he played the title role in a BBC drama, "Lee Oswald — Assassin."

"The play drew generally unfavorable reviews from the London critics. A few found some excitement in the re-creation of the events of that 1963 November. But the general consensus declared the show unsatisfying and muddled."

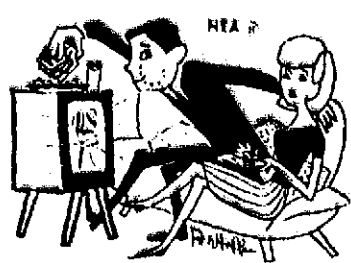

"I must say this is one occasion when I never agreed with the critics more," said Bill.

"We rehearsed the show in a drill hall, the BBC having neglected to provide rehearsal stages in their new headquarters."

"Then we went into the studio and taped the whole show as if it were a stage play, from beginning to end without a break. It's difficult to achieve much quality that way."

Yet Tony Bill came off well in the reviews: "Lent the character considerable depth" (Times); "An icy triumph" (Express); "Excellent cast" (Manchester Guardian); "powerful performance" (Mirror); "Something to remember" (Evening News).

Such plaudits made the job worth it, said the actor. "Whenever an actor does a good job, it is bound to help his career."

A steady beau doesn't have first call on his girl's television set and refrigerator.

Even when he is portraying an arch-villain of the century?

"Of any century," Bill corrected. "I don't believe any one man in history caused so much immediate and personal sorrow to as many people throughout the world as did Lee Harvey Oswald."

"Perhaps playing him wasn't good for my image, whatever that may be. But I think a lot of actors spend too much time worrying about their image and too little time trying to get roles."

Magnolia Is Winner at Dedication

By LARRY DON WRIGHT
Hope Star Sportswriter

The Magnolia Panther track team won both the Senior and Jr. High divisions of a four way track and field meet yesterday afternoon which marked the official opening of Hope's new track field.

The Panthers racked up 94½ points in the senior division to out distance Hope who ran second with 81 points. Gurdon tallied 61½ while Prescott pulled up last with 26.

The Bobcats trouble lay in the field events where they took only three places, a first, second and a third, out of five events. The grand total of Hope points in the field events was 12.

However, elsewhere the Cats did well. Bobby Samuels took first place in three events, the 100, 220, and 440-yard dash. His times were 11.5, 23.4 and 52.5 respectively.

Samuel's time of 23.4 in the 220 dash was a new Hope High School record.

In all Samuels, a senior, accounted for 23 of Hope's points by himself.

Buzz Andrews broke school records in both the 120-yard high hurdles, and the 180-yard low hurdles, placing second in both events. His times were 17.0 and 23.8 in that order.

In the Jr. High division Magnolia totaled 87½ points followed by Hope and Prescott who tied for second with 61½ points each. Gurdon was last with 22½ points.

The Bobkittens won two events, the 120-yard high hurdles and the discus throw. Jerry Don McWilliams paced the former with a time of 16.7. Carrol Beck had the winning throw in the discus with a heave of 128 feet and 11 inches.

ding the night he stopped Sonny Liston in seven at Miami Beach 25 months ago to win the title.

But if an undefeated, fast young, 6-foot-3, 210-pounder was 7-1 against Liston then some experts say Chuvalo should be at least 10-1 considering that his last effort was a losing one to Eduardo Corletti, the Argentine unknown who now fights out of Italy.

Corletti was stopped in five rounds by Patterson — una us Ray Patterson, the ex-champ's kid brother and sparring partner — on Oct. 9, 1964.

Chuvalo's 12 defeats, however, wouldn't count against him if he scores the big upset. The WBA recognizes Ernie Terrell as its world champion and the Ontario Boxing Commission is a member of the WBA.

With the fight only six days away, Chuvalo scaled 212 pounds, only three over what he plans to weigh for the fight, according to trainer Ted McWhorter. Clay, who hit the beam at 225 when he arrived her last Friday, reportedly is getting close to the 215 he wants to carry for the fight.

Sharman to Take Over Warriors

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bill Sharman, newly named coach of the San Francisco Warriors, prepared today to devote nearly all his time to the National Basketball Association team.

The former Boston Celtics backcourt star, named Tuesday to replace the fired Alex Hannum, must move his wife and family from Los Angeles to the San Francisco area. He has four children.

The move was the main stipulation in his agreement with Warriors owner Franklin E. Mieuli, who fired the veteran and non-resident Hannum because he wanted a 12-month coach. He hired Sharman 10 hours later.

The Warriors finished fourth in the Western Division this season.

Mieuli said the 39-year-old Sharman turned down two other pro offers to come to the Warriors.

Sharman never has coached in the NBA. But he holds the distinction of coaching the only American Basketball League champion. After retiring from the Celtics in 1961, Sharman became coach of the ABL Los Angeles Jets.

The Jets folded before the end of the ABL's first season. Sharman moved over to the Cleveland Pipers and won the title. The league itself went under two months into its second season.

Sound and movement are the two main elements of music.

Tigers Maul Yanks; Phillies Edge Dodgers

Denny McLain was just one out away. Jim Bouton still has a long way to go.

McLain, a hard-throwing Detroit right-hander, worked 8 2-3 innings — longest stint by a pitcher this spring — as the Tigers mauled the New York Yankees 7-4 Tuesday for their sixth straight exhibition victory.

Bouton, a troubled Yankee right-hander, worked three innings and took his third straight pounding. He yielded all seven Detroit runs, including a grand slam homer by Willie Horton and bases-empty blasts by Don Demeter and Al Kaline.

McLain, a week short of his 22nd birthday, is coming off a 16-6 season and his future is rosy. Bouton, 27, is fighting for a job after last year's 4-15 collapse — and running out of tomorrow. Tuesday's drubbing rocketed his earned run average for the spring to 11.70.

Bobby Wine, Philadelphia's light-hitting shortstop, collected his first hit of the spring, a 12th-inning homer that gave the Phillies a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

California crushed Cleveland 11-0; Atlanta edged Kansas City 4-3; Houston topped Pittsburgh 5-3; St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 6-4; Washington nipped Boston 8-7; Baltimore beat the New York Mets 5-3; the Chicago White Sox downed Minnesota 5-4 in 10 innings and the Chicago Cubs trimmed San Francisco 4-2.

McLain gave up a lead-off homer to Roy White in the first inning and then stopped the Yankees until the ninth. Two singles and two walks forced a run across and McLain gave way to Dave Wickersham, who walked another two runs in before getting Roger Maris on a bases-loaded fly for the last out.

Horton unloaded on Bouton in the first inning and Demeter followed with his solo shot. Kaline connected in the third, the sixth homer given up by Bouton in 10 innings.

Claude Osteen, ace of the Dodgers' staff in the absence of Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, blanked Philadelphia for six innings while Al Ferrara's two-run homer sent the world champions in front 2-0.

The Phils tied it in the seventh when Rich Allen and Jackie Brandt homered off Howie Reed. Wine's homer in the 12th saddled the Dodgers with their eighth loss in 10 starts.

Marichal Has Signed But Not Sandy and Don

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Juan Marichal's acceptance of an estimated $70,000 to pitch for the San Francisco Giants this year leaves his fellow hurler Bob Shaw the club's only holdout today.

The 27-year-old right-hander from the Dominican Republic followed Cincinnati's Jim Maloney by just one day in agreeing to terms when he accepted an offer via telephone from Giants' vice-president Chub Feeney on Tuesday.

Still holding out however were the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers' aces, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale.

Shaw, who posted a 16-9 record last year, has asked $50,000. The Giants' offer is believed about $43,000.

Marichal, the only major league hurler to win 20 or more games each of the past three years, accepted an offer apparently midway between the $80,000 he asked and the $60,000 he received last year when he posted a 22-13 record with 2.13 earned-run-average.

The hurler said he would arrive at the Giants spring training camp in Phoenix on Friday. He has reported himself in good shape but six pounds overweight.

How soon he will be able to pitch in exhibition games remained problematical. Pitching coach Larry Jansen declared, "Six pounds overweight is nothing for Juan. But we'll have to wait and see how he looks. Probably he'll have to do some warmup work and then pitch batting practice before going into a game."

Since 17 days will remain between Marichal's scheduled arrival and the start of the National League season, he should be ready for the opening game against Chicago on April 12.

Says Dodgers Go Without Star Hurlers

VEHO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers said Wednesday he has concluded that the world champions will play this year without star pitchers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale.

"Unless I'm naive and have been taken in, I have to believe they won't sign," E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi said after learning that Koufax and Drysdale had gone over his head by calling Doger owner Walter O'Malley to discuss their contract problems.

"If the boys prefer doing business with O'Malley, it's perfectly agreeable with me," said the general manager. "It's O'Malley's money. But I'm disappointed that Don didn't call me first."

"My relations with Sandy have always been on a business basis, but with Drysdale it has been more personal."

"If they can make more money in the movies than they can in baseball I wish them the best of luck, but they can't act and pitch at the same time."

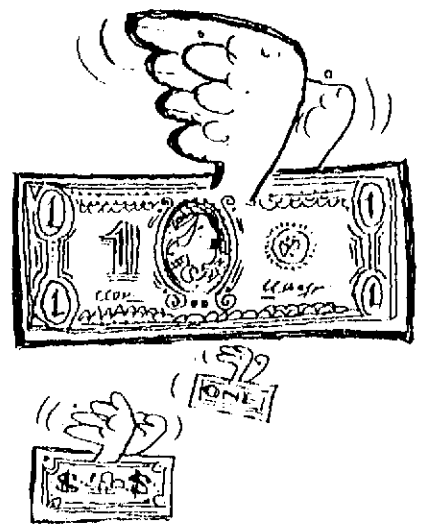

O'Malley led a news conference here Tuesday night to say that Koufax and Drysdale had awakened him late Monday night with a phone call from Los Angeles.

"We had a rather long and pleasant conversation," O'Malley said, "but I must say that I believe the situation is status quo."

Koufax and Drysdale have been asking for $500,000 apiece over the next three years and have been sorely disappointed with Bavasi's offer of one-year pacts calling for $105,000 for Sandy and $95,000 for Don.

Koufax won 26 games last season, not counting two against Minnesota in the World Series triumph, and Drysdale won 23.

Miss Suzman Conscience of S. Africa
By ROBERT N. LINDSAY
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — To associates, Helen Suzman is the conscience of South Africa. To political foes, she is a constant harassment.
She is the most outspoken critic of the government's apartheid policies, which call for the races to live apart. For five years she has waged a lonely battle in Parliament against apartheid laws and practices.
Her Progressive party is contesting for 28 seats in next Wednesday's national election, which will name 178 members of the House of Assembly and no doubt restore Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd to power.
Mrs. Suzman, backed by hundreds of young enthusiasts, is battling to retain her own seat in the Houghton district, in a wealthy area suburban to Johannesburg. Her opponent is of the United Party, the main parliamentary opposition. Verwoerd's party considered its prospects so slim in this district that it did not nominate a candidate.
Mrs. Suzman's own chances seem fairly good, but her party's hope of gaining many seats in Parliament is slight. She is now the party's only representative here.
Her position is that the government heaps injustices on people simply because they are nonwhites. The term "non-white" is used here to cover both black Africans and those who have mixed blood, generally including East Indian ancestry, and are called colored.
She says her interest in politics stems from a desire to see social justice. She first entered Parliament as a United party member 13 years ago. When that party's liberal wing broke away to form the Progressive party, she became one of the splinter group's ardent campaigners and won her Houghton seat on their ticket in 1961.
Ever since, she has been a thorn in the government's side. "I despise the idea of nonwhites being kicked around from pillar to post," she says.
She argues this way:
The present peace in South Africa has been won at a price the whites didn't have to pay. The nonwhites had to pay the price — forced removal from homes in which they had lived for years in accommodation the government's residential segregation program; low wages, barriers to their progress in industry, poverty, malnutrition, pass laws, deprivation of rights and responsibilities on grounds of color alone.
"The time to make reasonable concessions is now while we are in a position of strength," she says. "Social change should be permitted, not forbidden."
Often when she speaks in Parliament, members of the Verwoerd party acknowledge her impact by chanting "Listen to the Mother Superior."

THE BORN LOSER

By ART SANSOM

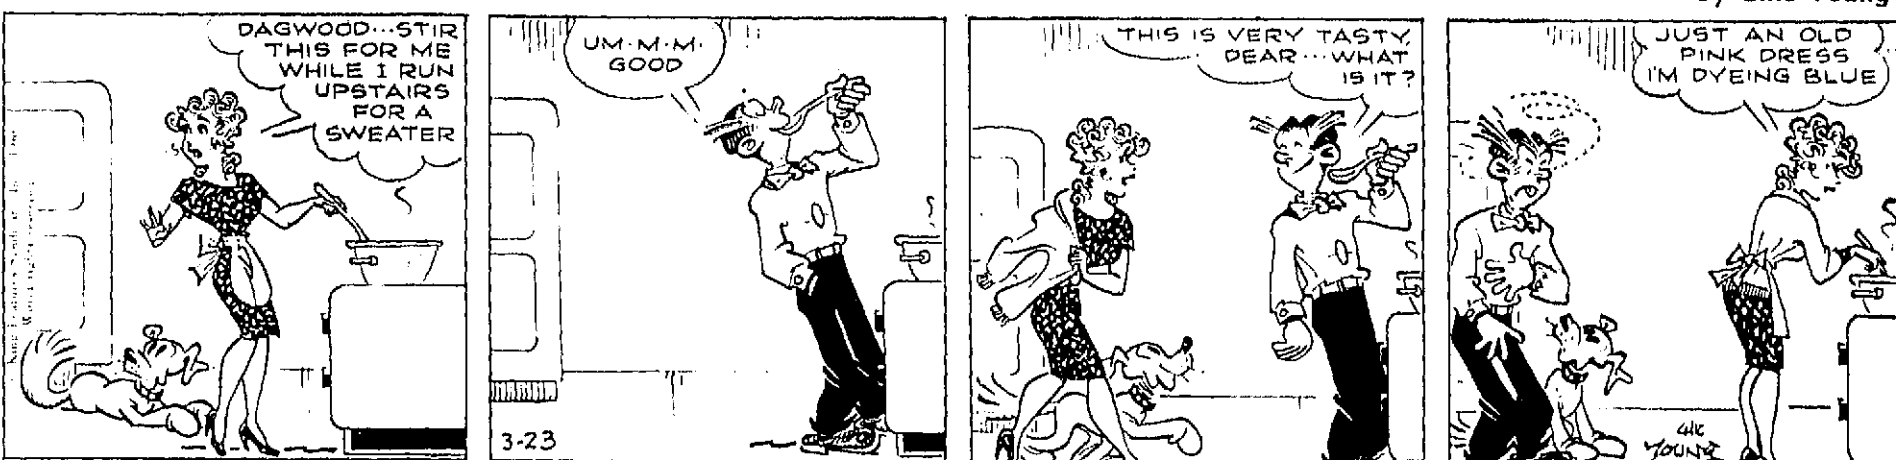

Two of baseball's most famous pitchers, Rube Waddell and Christy Mathewson, once played professional football against each other. In 1902 Cornelius "Connie Mack" McGillicuddy organized a professional football team and called it the Philadelphia Athletics. Waddell played on this team, which played a Pittsburgh squad with Mathewson as its full-back. Mack's team won and he claimed the "world's championship."

Oswald points out to Jim that deliberate failure by third hand to play a high card, not necessarily the highest, but some high card, is known as finessing against your partner and is one of the more expensive bad habits a player can acquire.

Jim: "You are so very right. Still there are a few instances when you should play low. One of the most frequent occurs when you know that your partner has opened the top of nothing and you can hang onto your high card with full knowledge that it will do absolutely no good to play it."

Oswald: "Today's hand is a good illustration of this type of play. South is in a good four spade contract because he will make it if he trumps break, irrespective of the location of the king of diamonds."

Jim: "West has no satisfactory lead anywhere. In such circumstances a doubleton lead is not apt to do any harm and may do some good. Anyway, he does open the eight of diamonds. Declarer will surely cover with one of dummy's higher cards, probably with the queen. He wants to do his best to get East to play the king if he holds it."

Oswald: "It should be just as easy for East to play low in this spot as if he were looking at all the cards. The eight could not be second best and no one leads away from an ace-jack combination against a suit contract."

Jim: "If East plays low South goes down one. He is unlucky to have to lose a trump trick and he also must lose two clubs and a spade. If East rises with his king declarer makes four diamond tricks instead of three and is able to discard his losing spade on the fourth diamond."

Wearing Shoes In The South
It is taking longer than expected to erase the "Tobacco Road" identification of the South from other sections of the nation.

There are exceptions, of course, for the influx of industry and business in the South has been encouraging for many years. Tourist attractions and vacation resorts have drawn more people for a personal inspection tour, and they quickly see that we've come a long way since Civil War days.

The fact that we still have a long way to go to get the story told, however, comes from reports that some company executives are having a difficult time getting personnel to move to the South, among other places, to help operate new plants. Getting wives to agree appears to be a problem.

The Wall Street Journal review of the situation points out that the Hall Lamp Co. of Detroit never did make its planned move to Clinton, N. C. President Harry Hirsch explained that wives would not let their executive husbands go, then added: "You get a woman with three sisters and a brother here and send her down to Clinton, N.C., in the South, and she's afraid the children will grow up learning to go without shoes — no matter how erroneous such an impression may be."

The Deep South is not the only geographical area posing a problem. Some wives don't want their husbands to accept a New York assignment, for instance, for they see the city as "dirty, corrupt, graft-ridden and deteriorating all the time and don't want to bring kids up in this mess."

Still, getting executives — and wives — to move to smaller, often out-of-way towns has been found to be the biggest problem. Somewhere in the midst of this new problem there's some opportunity. A big promotional campaign by Southern states — joining together in a regional enterprise — might help. Better distribution of Chamber of Commerce literature to personnel who might be involved in transfers might be another.

Somewhere along the line we must be aware of the fact — as Southerners and as industry-hunters — that we can promote opportunity, and the many other assets we have, but we still have not overcome the "Tobacco Road" influence. Also, we have not convinced everyone that we actually do wear shoes. Some of us, in fact, wear shoes even in the summer. — Burlington (N.C.) Daily Times-News

So, What Else Is Dangerous?
A scientist says in California that animals — and perhaps people — may some day learn to adapt themselves to smog.

Well, why not? The human animal seems to be able to take a good bit of abuse — noise, tension, frozen TV dinners, Beatles, TV commercials, traffic, TV shows, cigarettes, salesmen, committees, politicians, suburbia, junk mail (especially those that come stapled up like a set of secret H-bombs, plans, holiday regliras, luncheon club speakers, football weekends, the frug. By now it should be clear that man shows an infinite capacity for surviving anything that doesn't kill him first. — Aniston (Ala.) Star

Congress in Approval of Bill for War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is expected to give final congressional approval and send to President Johnson today an emergency $13.1-billion appropriation bill to help pay for the stepped-up war in Viet Nam.

The bill's money figure — the exact amount requested by the President — is not in dispute. The House voted the funds last week but the Senate, in giving its 87-2 approval Tuesday, added a minor amendment.

The amendment would limit Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's authority to transfer funds in support of South Vietnamese and other Allied troops.

Agitation to Oust Saigon Government

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — New antigovernment demonstrations erupted in Da Nang and Hue today, intensifying the political dispute between Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime and the Buddhist leadership. For the first time there were anti-American overtones.

Ten thousand persons milled about the city hall in Hue, the old imperial capital. Some carried banners attacking the United States for supporting Ky's military rule.

However, one knot of demonstrators carried banner saying: "We thank our American friends for helping us fight the Viet Cong."

America and Vietnamese employees at the nearby U.S. Information Service building hastily locked doors and hid equipment as rumors flew that the demonstrators might sack the center.

Two thousand persons attended an antigovernment rally in Da Nang amid another general strike that closed most shops in the northern military center.

The flurry of new agitation for ouster of the Saigon government took the spotlight from the fighting fronts. Another 100 bodies were found today by U.S. Marines at the scene of their battle with two Communist battalions about 70 miles south of Da Nang on Monday.

The dead brought the enemy toll claimed by the Leathernecks in their four-day Operation Texas in Quang Nga Province, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, to 358 killed. The freshly dug graves were discovered in the village of Phon Dinh.

Another 99 Communists killed and 8 captured were reported by Marines in Operation Oregon, on the northern flank of the main Leatherneck push. This phase of operation was closed out today.

Lost H-Bomb Will Be Disected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The missing American hydrogen bomb will be dissected like a fish if the United States ever reels it up from the bottom of the sea off Spain.

Officials said today that once the bomb is recovered it will be dismantled and subjected to months — and some parts for years — of study.

This is the first initial detail possible how the thermonuclear device was affected by an in-flight collision and months in the salt water of the Mediterranean.

The bomb was loosed when a U.S. B52 jet and its refueling tanker collided six miles above the coast of Spain Jan. 17. It drifted by parachute into the sea.

Miniature submarines have been trying to maneuver the bomb into a favorable position for recovery the past several days. Officials say it might be days or weeks before the bomb is surfaced.

Once in hand, the gray, tubular device will be taken to an unspecified base of the Defense Atomic Support Agency (DASA), officials said. DASA builds the nation's nuclear hardware.

"You can rest assured it will get a thorough going-over," one spokesman said. "We bring nuclear bombs back to the shop if they're so much as scratched."

Dozens of experts will be called in for various examinations of the bomb's components. They have probed the intricacies of a few other nuclear weapons which were damaged in plane crashes or merely dented in transporting.

Getting into the bomb isn't a particularly complicated or ticklish matter. Its insides are bared by removal of bolted-on plates.

The scientists and technicians will be interested primarily in two things about the bomb: its safety features and structure.

Cold Warning Tonight for N. Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A cold air mass from Canada moved through Arkansas today and the U.S. Weather Bureau issued a hard freeze warning for the northwest section of the state tonight.

The bureau said temperatures would plunge into the 20s in the northern half of the state tonight, with the southern portion get low readings ranging from 62 degrees to 34 degrees.

The cold snap follows more than a week of balmy spring weather in which daytime maximums were frequently in the 80s with overnight low temperatures generally in the 50s and 60s.

The bureau said skies would begin clearing in the state tonight with fair skies Thursday. Maximum temperatures Thursday will be near 40 degrees in the north to the low 50s in the south.

Overnight low readings reported today ranged from 34 degrees at Harrison to 52 degrees at El Dorado.

ESD May Train Registered Nurses

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — J. L. Bland, administrator of the Employment Security Division, said Tuesday that the ESD is investigating the possibility of setting up federally sponsored courses to train registered nurses.

Bland pointed out that there is a shortage of nurses, and said there is a possibility of getting training programs for registered nurses through the Office of Economic Opportunity.

He said Arkansas has graduated 168 persons as licensed practical nurses under the OEO's Manpower Development Training program.

All Cars Were Stuck in Snow

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — With most of its cars stuck in a snow and wind storm swept Omaha today, the police department asked the State Safety Patrol to help unravel a traffic jam on a main road in town.

The patrol, which has a troop stationed on the western edge of Omaha, replied: "Sorry, we can't help you. Our cars are stuck too."

Six Deaths Attributed to Blizzard

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A roaring spring blizzard whipped through great Plain states today, leaving behind deep snows which were whirled into drifts by biting winds.

Six deaths were attributed to the blizzard: three in Nebraska, two in Wyoming and one in South Dakota.

Much of South Dakota's Black Hills had up to two feet of snow. Winds measured at 50 to 70 miles per hour swirled across Nebraska Tuesday and Tuesday night. All roads were treacherous and were impassable in central and western areas.

Twenty-nine children, a driver and a teacher spent the night huddled in blankets in a stalled school bus between Ord and Loup City in central Nebraska.

An exocent mother finally reached a hospital via a wreck-jrafter 2 cars tried to get her to a hospital and both became stalled.

Many power and telephone lines were down in the central and northern areas as up to 10 inches of snow fell.

Eppley Field in Omaha, Neb., was blacked out by a power failure Tuesday night and all outgoing flights were canceled. There were many power breaks in the Omaha metropolitan area.

China Angrily Rejects Soviet Invitation

By KAY TATEISHI
TOKYO (AP) — Red China angrily rejected today a Soviet invitation to the Communist party congress in Moscow, charging the Russians slandered the Chinese by sending a letter to other parties "instigating them to join you in opposing China."

Shortly after Radio Peking made the announcement, the Albanian radio said Albania would boycott the congress and accused Soviet leaders of "intolerance, big power chauvinism and anti-semitism." Albania is Red China's sole ally in Europe.

Whether Red China would attend the Moscow congress opening next Tuesday had been a question. The terms of the rejection, dated Tuesday, seemed to say that the anti-Chinese letter the Russians sent to Communist parties throughout the world was the main factor in the decision.

The Soviet congress is expected to widen the split between the Soviet Union and Red China, although it is possible nothing will leak out until later. Outside Red China and Albania, most of the world's Communist parties are expected to be represented. The Chinese Communist Central Committee signed the rejection in answer to a Soviet invitation Feb. 24.

TB Hospital Integration Challenged

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Negro woman challenged in federal court here Tuesday the segregation policy of the Arkansas Tuberculosis Sanatorium, under which the institution has operated for more than a half century.

Mrs. Felix Burton of Paris filed a lawsuit to desegregate the sanatorium at Booneville, which has traditionally treated only whites on an in-patient basis since its opening in 1910. The McRae Memorial Sanatorium for Negroes at Alexander has been in operation since 1935.

Mrs. Burton's suit was filed on behalf of a relative, Mrs. Janie Chappel, 84, of Paris, and for other Negroes who need tuberculosis treatment. Mrs. Chappel is a patient at McRae, and the lawsuit says it would be more convenient for her to be at Booneville, 25 miles from Paris. Alexander is about 125 miles away.

John Walker of Little Rock, Mrs. Burton's attorney, contended that the Booneville sanatorium received a substantial amount of federal funds, but Superintendent William Fulmer said it was operated entirely with state funds.

Immediate Tax Hike Rejected by President

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has firmly rejected suggestions for an immediate tax increase as a hedge against inflation.

But he left the door open for a possible tax boost later if his administration feels it is needed.

"We don't want to act prematurely," Johnson told a news conference Tuesday. "We don't want to put the brakes too fast."

Johnson cited signs of a slowdown in the economy — including a 17 per cent drop in housing starts during February — and said the administration wants to assess the effects of the recently signed tax measure before taking any new anti-inflationary steps.

This measure, designed to raise about $6 billion over the next 15 months, reimposed excise taxes which were reduced last Jan. 1, and will speed collections of corporate and personal income taxes.

In the impromptu news conference in his office, Johnson also:

— Named Robert W. Komer, formerly deputy special assistant to the president, as a special assistant on nonmilitary matters in Viet Nam. He will direct policies in such fields as education, medical care and social and economic reform.

— Said the United States is anxious for more contacts and exchanges with Red China but this won't occur until China's attitude changes.

— Remarked that the AFL-CIO has always been independent and should be. He was asked about the recent statements of George Meany, the AFL-CIO president, that the labor organization would ally itself in the future with neither major party.

— Called amusing claims of Republican leaders that the GOP will make big gains in the November congressional election. The President said he would give his advice in the election campaign if it were solicited but he has no fixed date for any campaigning.

Phone Rate Hike Before Directors

At its meeting last night the City Board of Directors read an ordinance for the second time pertaining to a proposed rate increase by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

A low bid from Nunn-Pentecost Co. for a pickup truck was accepted.

220,000 GIs Are Now in Viet Nam War

CHICAGO (AP)—Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said today U.S. forces in South Viet Nam now total 220,000.

This is 5,000 more than the total listed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara three weeks ago. McNamara said he has authorized an increase in Viet Nam to 235,000 men.

Vance, the Pentagon's second-ranking official also disclosed that there are 111 confirmed battalions of North Vietnamese army regulars and hard-core Viet Cong veterans in South Viet Nam, totaling some 75,000 men. This is six battalions more than the figure used by U.S. officials in talking to newsmen 13 days ago.

These officials predicted at the time that Communist strength in these hard-core, first-line units would rise to 155 battalions by the end of the year.

Vance used the new strength figures in a speech prepared for the 70th annual convention of the Grain and Feed Dealers National Association.

Says DeGaulle Could Imperil France, West

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson warned the Atlantic Allies today that President Charles de Gaulle's efforts to reform their alliance could imperil the security of France and endanger the safety of the Western world.

While he expressed confidence that the United States and 13 allies will stick together to preserve NATO, without France if necessary, Johnson said:

"If our collective effort should falter — and our common determination be eroded — the foundations of the alliance's present stability would be shaken."

Johnson never mentioned De Gaulle by name in his first public response by him since the French president served notice three weeks ago that he intends to pull his military forces out of NATO, oust NATO military headquarters from France and recover control of U.S. and Allied NATO bases on French territory.

Johnson spoke at the State Department to an audience of Foreign Service officers. Twenty-four hours earlier he had sent a personal message to De Gaulle, responding to an earlier letter from De Gaulle setting forth De Gaulle's policies on the future of NATO.

Johnson's message Tuesday constituted a detailed reply to a message which De Gaulle sent him March 7. He gave a preliminary response at the time saying that the problems which many from N A T O command have to deal with not by the United States and France alone but by the entire 15-nation alliance.

Subsequently De Gaulle sent word of his decision to other Allied governments and published a note in which he set forth his major plans — to remove France's two divisions and two air squadrons in Germany from ATO command and to establish French sovereignty over U.S. and other NATO air, sea and supply bases on French territory.

As a consequence of De Gaulle's position U.S. officials say that the NATO supply systems and other installations now in France will have to be relocated to provide continuing support for the allied forward forces in Germany.

NATO military commands will have to be set up outside France. Some kind of new arrangements will have to be made for continuing French forces in Germany or those forces presumably will have to be withdrawn.

A-Smasher Could Be a CC Dream

By JERRY BUCK

NEW YORK (AP) — Selection as one of six possible sites for a proposed $375-million atom smasher should be a Chamber of Commerce dream come true. And it is for all but one of the finalists, South Barrington, Ill., near Chicago, where the people wish the federal facility would go somewhere else.

Arthur Hogfelt, the village president, said: "We moved out for privacy and fresh air and that's about it. We don't want to move. You might say they're purely selfish reasons — but what else is there?"

The other finalists, including Weston, Ill., an alternate to South Barrington, are actively seeking the atom smasher. "It's the scientific plum of the century," said Arthur Theriault, president of Weston Village, which is 15 miles away from South Barrington.
